WILSON FACES OPERATION; SURGICAL EXPERT CALLED

WAR TIME RATIONS ON SUGAR

Boston and New England to Pay Eleven Cents a Pound Until Shortage Is Over

New England and all the North Atlantic seaboard are to be put back under war-time restrictions in the purchase and use of sugar for the next three months, it was announced today. The price will be fixed by the National Equalization Board at 11 cents, until the shortage is over.

Brigadier-General John H. Sherburne, chairman of the State Commission on the Necessaries of Life, reported that the Equalization Board had decided on this course as the only one offering a solution of the sugar famine here.

The war-time restrictions would fall particularly hard on the various candy manufacturing establishments, which make Boston the greatest candy centre in the world. Use of sugar in candy is to be curtailed 50 per cent. until January 1.

Brigadier-General Sherburne has already issued to Massachusetts retailers strong recommendations that they sell only in small quantities. An effort will be made to conserve by restricting the amount of sugar to be issued to confectioners and hotels.

Crap Players Caught With the Aid of Field Glasses

Binoculars were used by two Waltham policemen to detect twenty-seven men and boys, who were in court today on gambling charges.

For years "Stoney Hatter," in the bleachery district, has been the scene of Sunday crap games. It is bordered on one side by the river and on another by railroad tracks. A look-out is always posted on the river bridge. The police say they have known of the games, but when they arrived found players and dice gone. Recently, Patrolmen Peter Tracey and William H. Lyons were detailed, and at 5 a. m. last Sunday they went to a barn on the opposite river bank, each armed with a pair of field glasses, watched the crap game develop, they say, and identified the players, who were in court today.

Twenty-four were charged with gaming and three with being present at a gambling game. All pleaded not guilty.

MOVE TO SPEED ACTION ON TREATY

Washington, Oct. 17.—Conceding that the defeat of the Shantung amendment doomed other proposed textual changes in the German peace treaty, Republican leaders of the Senate today adopted a plant to dispose of all remaining amendments with the utmost speed.

It was decided that the one Fall amendment still pending, that involving American representation on the reparation commission, should be called up in the Senate this afternoon, and a determined effort made to bring it to a vote before the end of the day.

With the last of the Fall amendments thus disposed of, it was agreed that the Johnson amendment, to equalize the voting strength of the United States and Great Britain in the League of Nations assembly should be brought to the attention of the Senate tomorrow for final action.

'By and From Among' Opens Sharp Fight in Conference

By International News Service Correspondent.

Washington, Oct. 17.—At last capital and organized labor have come to a face-and-face clash on the floor of President Wilson's industrial conference.

All the verbiage of the last seven days has been cleared away; all the side issues eliminated with the steel strike and its settlement as the issue the two great forces have come to the issue on four small words, which, stated in their order, are "by and from among."

The employers' group today unexpectedly introduced a resolution which set the fight a-going. Their resolution contained the four troublesome words, and it soon gained the title of the "By and from among" resolution.

In their resolution these words stood out so strongly that when Dr.

New York, Oct. 17.—Lieutenant B. W. Maynard, leader of the eastbound trans-continental fliers, left Omaha at 8:47 o'clock this morning, to continue his flight, according to a dispatch received at the American Flying Club here.

With weather conditions ideal except for a strong northeast wind, Pacific coast entrants began their flights westward from Roosevelt Field today.

Lieutenant Emil Kiel, in No. 62, was the first away, at 8:45 a. m.

Lieutenant Queens succeeded in getting his machine in shape earlier than expected and took off at 11:22 a. m.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Oct. 17.—Clear, cool weather greeted Lieutenant Alexander Pearson, east-bound runner-up in the transcontinental air derby, when he left Fort Russell this morning at 8:23.

Captain Felix Steinle, whose machine was damaged in making a landing here, will resume his flight westward today. Neither Steinle nor his observer were injured in the crash.

Washington, Oct. 17.—Permission for Captain L. H. Smith to continue in the trans-continental flight in a Curtis machine was withdrawn by the War Department today. Captain Smith came down near Buffalo with a broken propeller. Officials decided that only planes actually a part of government equipment would be permitted in the race.

Gallagher Gives $500 to Any Relative 'Bearing His Name'

All you men bearing the names of Charles and Theodore would think it pretty soft if some one were to die and leave you $500 just for carrying your name through life, wouldn't you?

The late Charles T. Gallagher, beloved and appreciated for his companionable qualities and sound common sense, left in his will, allowed by Judge White today, one of the most human documents filed for some time in the Suffolk County Probate Court.

To his nephews, Charles and Theodore, he left $500 each as a "consolation prize," so he termed it, "for carrying my name through life."

"If any others of my nephews or grandnephews be similarly afflicted," he wrote, "I want each of them to have the same amount of $500."

He started his will, a seven-page-of-notepaper document, thus:

"I am trying to write this with a new fountain pen on a railroad train going forty miles an hour, in a bad light, my knee being the table on which I am trying to balance the pad."

The document was executed on January 6, 1913. A substantial estate is left to Mrs. Gallagher and her children, and Mr. Gallagher remembered Miss Alice M. Whitehead, for many years a governess in his family, and Miss Harriet Weller, his confidential secretary, with legacies of $2,500 each.

Another paragraph in the will reads: "As I never speculated and never made any money by increase of investments in value, but have accumulated what I have by the hardest kind of hard work and by economy in expenses, I hope my children will be satisfied to so use what I leave them that they will make its enjoyment last, rather than try to enjoy it expeditiously, or seek to make more of it than common sense in investments calls for, thus with industry added to thrift the 'wet day,' 'old age' and infirmities will not be so much dreaded. Mcwhere's rule about income and expenses, which he never practiced, is a pretty good one to follow, or at least remember."

NO GRIP EPIDEMIC THIS YEAR, SAYS DR. CAREY

PRESIDENT HAS RESTLESS NIGHT

Washington, Oct. 17. — President Wilson's condition today was not as satisfactory as his physicians desired.

The following Bulletin was issued:

"The President passed a comfortable night and is feeling well this morning. His temperature, pulse and respiration rate are normal. The prostatic condition is not as satisfactory as yesterday and is checking the general improvement of the past two weeks." (Signed) Grayson, Ruffin, Stitt."

Possibilities that the President may have to undergo an operation were apparent this afternoon when Dr. Grayson announced that he had called into consultation Dr. Hugh Young of Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore.

Dr. Young is a specialist upon the prostate gland and has performed an operation upon Ambassador David R. Francis for an ailment similar to that of the President. Dr. Grayson refused to say whether an operation would be necessary until after Dr. Young had made a thorough examination of the President. The ailment caused by the inflammation of the prostate gland is not serious. Dr. Grayson stated, and it gives concern chiefly because it interferes with the rest of the President.

Complete rest is necessary for the recovery of the President and the trouble caused by the inflammation interferes seriously with his rest. The inflammation of the prostate gland became very annoying to the President about midnight last night and Dr. Grayson was called in at 3 o'clock this morning because of the suffering of the patient.

SUGAR SHORTAGE IMPERILS JOBS OF HUNDREDS IN CANDY FACTORIES

tiers, while bakers, medicine manufacturers, fruit preservers and condensed milk producers will be given preference.

While American sugar will sell for [illegible] cents, Cuban may cost 14 cents for that imported from Canada, and 13 cents for that imported from Porto Rico.

EXPORT 100,000 TONS.

German Sherburne's report divulged the fact that recently the National Equalization Board has authorized the export of 150,000 tons of sugar from our famine-stricken ports of this country to various European nations.

"The National Equalization Board has decided to arrange for the distribution of sugar as on the wartime basis of last year. To limit the use of sugar by candy makers, confectioners and bottlers, they will be allowed but 50 per cent. of their normal consumption. Bakers will be allowed 70 per cent. It is recommended that medicine manufacturers, fruit preservers and condensed milk makers be given preference.

PLEADS FOR RELIEF.

"Some candy makers have anticipated their wants, but Boston seems certain to suffer. We are the biggest candy centre in the world. Without a normal flow of sugar employes will be thrown out of work and the industry injured. It is entirely out of our power as a State body to remedy this situation, but I have already applied to the National Equalization Board for relief."

General Sherburne said: "The Sugar Equalization Board has 1,500,000 tons of Cuban sugar contracted for, some of which is already being received in this country. This is being divided as our share. The country is to be divided into zone systems, and Cuban sugar has been allotted to a district east of a line from Buffalo to Pittsburgh. This district, of course, includes New England.

"The 4,500,000 tons of Cuban sugar is about the amount we received last year, when on a war basis. The normal increase in the use of sugar during the last twenty years has been 4 per cent. annually, but in the first nine months of this year sugar consumption has increased 22 per cent.

"Of the 4,500,000 tons allotted to us, 150,000 tons have been allotted to be shipped out of this country. The marine strike has also prevented the shipment into this country of sugar in a normal flow.

"We have made recommendations to small dealers to sell sugar in small quantities. We believe there is an invisible supply in the hands of householders, who anticipated the shortage, which is being held by them to the detriment of others in need."

LABOR MAY BE AFFECTED.

General Sherburne's estimate of the seriousness of the situation for candy manufacturers was borne out by several of them. Officials of the Loose-Wiles Company took a decided-ly gloomy view of the situation. They predicted that only from 40 to 50 per cent. of the usual holiday supply of candy would be available this year.

Such a curtailment of production might result, they admitted, in general unemployment and a general disorganization of the industry.

The sugar men pointed out that the demand for sweets had increased under wartime prohibition, and said they were proceeding conservatively, with due regard for the general public.

The demand for candies has increased 50 per cent. since July 1, according to officials of the Loose-Wiles Company, and the force has been increased accordingly. A policy of curtailment is viewed with undisguised alarm by the men who have their millions in the candy trade in Boston.

Some of the candy men admit that they have been buying sugar at 12½ cents a pound from Canadian speculators recently. They say that this is necessary in order to continue in business.

Practically all of them declared that they were not now getting 50 per cent. of their normal supply, and the new rule could not further injure them.

"I could use 150 barrels a day if I could get it," said one big confectioner. "To get it I would pay above the market price."

Other manufacturers said that "washed" sugar, which is held in large quantities in Cuba, was as good for candy manufacturers, but was not shipped into the United States in any quantity because of red tape.

BIG RED ARMY DRIVEN FROM PETROGRAD

armies are concentrating for a decisive battle with the forces of General Denikin in the south.

The penetration by Denikin's forces west of Voronej and the fall of Kursk are regarded as threatening Moscow.

Admiral Kolchak's forces have advanced and taken 5,000 prisoners on the Semipolatinsk front, according to official advices from Omsk. The report sent on October 14 states that the whole North Siberian army of Kolchak rests on the Tobal River and that two other armies are within five miles of the same river.

Chief Commissaire Zinlvaieff, at a Soviet meeting in Petrograd, described the situation as of the utmost seriousness, the State Department is informed.

Assistant-Secretary of State Breckenridge Long stated this afternoon that no confirmation had yet been received of the fall of Petrograd and Kronstadt, with the exception of the first reports from consular officers which came through Swedish channels.

Petrograd and Kronstadt Taken From Reds With Help of British Warships

Helsingfors, Finland, Oct. 17.—Petrograd has been evacuated by the Bolsheviki. Services celebrating the deliverance of the city were held by the anti-Bolsheviks in the Russian orthodox church.

The main attack at Kronstadt, the chief defence of Petrograd on the sea side, was delivered by the British fleet from Kuroppa Bay and was successful. The bombardment was terrific. The concussion was felt in villages in Finland and windows were shattered.

Count Radowitz, secretary to the German mission in Helsingfors, at a banquet at the German Club, said that Colonel Bermondt's force had been raised and maintained with the late Czar's private fortune. This money was sent to Berlin at the time of the Russian revolution.

The German government was said by Count Radowitz to have equipped the army of General von der Goltz secretly, fearing that open activity in this direction might reopen the world war. Count Radowitz expressed the view that it would be best for Germany to abandon the adventure in the Baltic provinces.

Colonel Bermondt's troops are Russians who have been operating with Germans against the Letts. The Germans were said to be marching on Petrograd, but evidently it was the anti-Bolshevik army under General Yudenitch which took the city.

London, Oct. 17.—Nicholai Lenine, premier of Bolshevik Russia, and Leon Trotsky, minister of war, have arranged to remove the Soviet government from Moscow to Orla, said a dispatch from Paris today, quoting a radiogram received in that city.

MERCHANTS OPPOSE TREMONT STREET AS ONE-WAY THOROUGHFARE

COUNTER PLAN IS OFFERED

Favor Using Other Avenues for Relieving Traffic Congestion in Shopping District

Tremont street merchants made known their opposition to the plan of making that thoroughfare a one-way street as a means of relieving traffic congestion at a meeting of the Board of Street Commissioners in City Hall today. They offered a counter-proposition for regulating traffic on several downtown streets which they believe would remove the present congestion on Tremont.

The original plan was to make Tremont a one-way street from Bolay square to Boylston street and Boylston from Tremont to Charles street. When Chairman John J. O'Callahan of the board called upon the thirty-five retail firms represented for speeches in favor of this plan, none of the business men responded.

He then announced that speeches in opposition were in order and F. P. O'Connor of the F. P. O'Connor Company introduced T. M. B. Hicks, Jr., secretary of the retail board of the Chamber of Commerce who said that he had been delegated by thirty Tremont street business houses who objected to the one way plan for that street to submit the following counter proposition.

WOULD REVERSE RULES.

(1) Eliot street to be a one-way street from Park Square to Washington street for inbound traffic. Boylston street to be a one-way street from Tremont to Charles for outbound traffic. This the merchants believe would relieve the traffic congestion at the corner of Tremont and Boylston.

(2) School street to be a one-way street for traffic bound from Washington to Tremont, and Bromfield one way for traffic bound from Tremont to Washington. This is the reverse of present traffic rules for these streets. Beacon street to be made a one-way street for outbound traffic from Tremont street to Bowdoin. This the merchants declare would divert outbound traffic from Tremont street to Beacon.

(3) For further relief of downtown congestion the business ben suggest that an outlet from the business district to northern suburbs be developed through Green and Cambridge streets. Such a course, they assert, would divert the traffic which now follows Tremont and Boylston streets to reach the Harvard bridge. If this plan is adopted they say it will probable be necessary to repave Green and Cambridge streets.

Mr. Hicks said that this plan had been studied by officers of the police department and the 1st Motor Corps, temporarily in charge of traffic regulations, and had received their indorsement.

STORES REPRESENTED.

The following business men attended the meeting:

Attorney Walter I. Badger, representing Chandler & Company; F. P. O'Connor of F. P. O'Conner Company; A. E. Flint, manager of Butler's; Irving B. Howe, representing Walkover Shoe Stores; James Fortescue, representing the Massachusetts State, and Boston Auto Dealers Associations; T. J. The Boston Common Society and the Boston City Club were represented.

MRS. HELEN ELWOOD STOKES, who has cleared up the mystery surrounding the divorce suit of her husband, who, she says, charged her with misconduct with her stepson.

STOKES 'NAMED' SON IN SUIT FOR DIVORCE

Wife's Affidavit Reveals Mystery Surrounding Action of Wealthy New York Man

New York, Oct. 17.—The mystery surrounding the divorce action which W. E. D. Stokes started against his wife, Mrs. Helen Elwood Stokes, early in the year, is cleared up by three affidavits submitted by Mrs. Stokes' attorney, Myles A. Walsh. The affidavits are from the three alleged by her husband as corespondents, denying the charges.

Mrs. Stokes also submitted through her attorney a motion for alimony and counsel fees pending the action, moved that the complaint against her be dismissed and asked for separation with custody of their two children. Decision was reserved.

The unusual nature of Mr. Stokes' complaint is shown by his wife's affidavits, declaring her husband's complaint charged her with misconduct with "Weddie" Stokes, son of Mr. Stokes and stepson of the defendant, with Roland Miller, stepbrother of Mrs. Stokes; with Harold Billie, her cousin; with George Schroer, and with "persons unknown to the plaintiff."

Affidavits denying the allegations were submitted from Miller, Billie and Schroer. Failure to locate "Weddie," Mrs. Stokes declared, was the reason no affidavit had been secured from him.

Mrs. Stokes swore that her husband's charges were the result of a plot to deprive her of her dower rights in her husband's property and to deprive her two children of their rights.

She says in the answer that in the Fall of 1911 her husband asked her to take three men riding in his automobile, and later told her he had sent the men out to test her fidelity. Mrs. Stokes says that her husband on several occasions admitted having improper relations with various women.

She further charges that "lewd women of the streets" came to her husband's private hall to wait for him with his permission.

Count Karolyi was formerly President of the Hungarian Socialist Republic. It was his resignation and the collapse of his government last March that opened the way for the Bolshevik regime under Bela Kun.

POSSE IN HUNT FOR WOMAN KIDNAPER

Believe She Lured Little "Billy" Dansey Away; Second Attempt Foiled

Hammonton, N. J., Oct. 17.—A second attempt to kidnap a two and one-half-year-old child here while detectives and civilians were searching for three-year-old "Billy" Dansey, who disappeared last week, aroused the community to a high pitch of excitement today.

The second kidnaping was thwarted by Mrs. Mary Rubba, pretty young wife of Constable John Rubba, when a strange, apparently insane woman was in the act of luring her little daughter Lillian away.

Chief of County Detectives John P. Wilson has sent out a general alarm for the woman in the belief that she may have kidnaped "Billy" Dansey also, and has assigned twenty special deputies to aid Constable John Rubba in running down clews to her whereabouts in this vicinity.

The mother of "Billy" Dansey has received a letter saying he was kidnaped by mistake.

Handwriting experts agree that the missive was penned by a woman who sought to give the impression that the writer was a man.

The letter indicated that Charles White, five-year-old son of E. H. White, prominent Hammonton man, was the one the writer intended to kidnap. As a result the White boy is being kept under a close guard.

"He is a wonderful little chap," the letter read, "and I already love him. When you read this I'll be close to the Mississippi." The police believe that the letter was mailed from Hammonton in a separate envelope and then mailed to Mrs. Dansey from Newark.

Mrs. Dansey, while heartbroken, is cheered by the news that the boy is still alive.

BROADWELL ON STAND IN LONG MURDER TRIAL

Husband of Slain Woman Tells How He Spent Night of Alleged Crime

Montpelier, Vt., Oct. 17.—The feature of the trial of George A. Long for the murder of Mrs. Louina C. Broadwell of Barre today was the calling of Harry E. Broadwell, husband of the slain woman.

Long was unmoved. The garments worn by Mrs. Broadwell the night she met her death were again produced in court, and were identified by Broadwell.

Broadwell said he had lived in Barre since 1914 and was married in 1910.

After having supper the night of the murder, Broadwell testified, he went to the home of A. D. Lane, building contractor, by whom he was employed. He met several fellow-carpenters, including George Rising.

They strolled about for a time, and Broadwell left to take part of his wages home to his wife. He later rejoined the party and wandered about town. Broadwell and Rising were together. They had much beer and also some "hard liquor," Broadwell said, at the home of a friend Bob Thompson, on whom they called twice, one of the visits being paid after midnight. They also visited the Socialist dance hall twice, although neither Broadwell nor Rising took part in the dancing. Egg sandwiches were enjoyed at the Mohad Davids lunch room, and also at Bob Thompson's home. About 2:45 Broadwell reached his home.

Broadwell's testimony was preceded by re-examination of Rising. He was sharply questioned by Richard A. Hoar of Long's counsel, who failed, however, to shake his story which corroborated that of Broadwell about the whereabouts of the latter on the night o the murder.

It was during the cross-examination that the first exception was filed. Hoar asked Rising: "Did not you leave a man named Harry at the corner of Pearl and Main streets before you went home that night?" States Attorney-General Archibald objected to the question, on the ground that Rising had left Harry Broadwell on one corner and Harry Mason, another carpenter, on a different corner. Judge Butler sustained the objection, and Hoar filed the exception.

Police Discard Gray Helmet and Garb of Summer

The police department ushered in the Fall and Winter season today, when the policemen who have remained on duty since the strike changed uniforms. The lightweight blouse is supplanted by a three-quarter-length coat of heavier material. The gray helmet of Summer is replaced by one of blue. About 450 members of the department are affected by today's change.

The witness was asked if he had not testified he was not called as a certain point of his evidence, to which in the cross-examination he gave a decisive answer.

"I don't think you are clear in your mind now," he replied. "I didn't say that."

Attorney Hoar concluded by a few questions as to interviews had by Rising with representatives of the State.

HUSBAND WHO SLAPPED WIFE'S FACE FINED $10

Attleboro, Oct. 17.—When Mrs. William Eddy of No. 194 Chestnut street, Attleboro Falls, remonstrated with her husband for "spanking" their child, her husband "slapped her face," whereupon he was arrested on a charge of disturbance of the peace by Suing Eddy, 118. Judge Haskell remarked that a warrant for assault and battery would have been more appropriate.

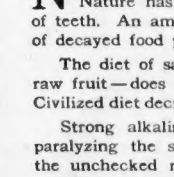
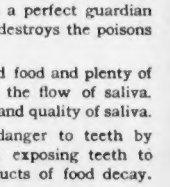
Why?



does this Yellow Man have white teeth while this White Man has yellow teeth?



NATURE protects teeth—civilization ruins them. Nature has provided in saliva a perfect guardian of teeth. An ample flow of saliva destroys the poisons of decayed food particles.

The diet of savages—tough, hard food and plenty of raw fruit—does not interfere with the flow of saliva. Civilized diet decreases the quantity and quality of saliva.

Strong alkalines increase the danger to teeth by paralyzing the salivary glands and exposing teeth to the unchecked ravages of the products of food decay.

Mennen Cream Dentifrice contains a fruit element which stimulates the salivary glands and increases the flow and alkalinity of saliva, thus aiding Nature to protect your teeth.

Mennen's cleans and polishes teeth wonderfully, breaks down tartar formations and removes tobacco stains.

A 20% content of alcohol exerts an antiseptic action. Aromatic oils make Mennen's pleasant to use with a cooling, refreshing after-taste.

Try Mennen's. It is scientific, beneficial and protects teeth in the only way they can be protected—by aiding Nature in a natural way.

Mennen's is economical, for it is so concentrated that a tiny bit is sufficient. It costs 35 cents.

U. S. CAN'T STOP COAL STRIKE, SAYS LEWIS

Washington, Oct. 17.—The government cannot stop the threatened strike of coal miners. This statement was made today by John L. Lewis, acting president of the United Mine Workers of America, before going into a conference with Secretary of Labor Wilson and representatives of the operators.

The conference was called by Secretary Wilson in an effort to prevent the strike.

"It is not our move," Lewis said. "We have made our demands and we have issued a call for a strike. It is now the other fellows' move."

"I haven't the least idea what the government, through the Secretary of Labor, will propose to us, but I am willing to listen carefully.

"It is said that the government can stop the coal strike. We say that it can't."

"The war was over when the armistice was signed, and we are no longer under war regulations," Lewis said, explaining the attitude of the miners toward the contention that they are still under the war contract made with Fuel Administrator Garfield.

"Eleven million tons of coal a week are now being produced," Lewis said. "A strike of the bituminous miners will cut off the production of ten million tons.

"We are told that the railroads have only a ten days' supply on hand. Well, tie up the railroads, we'll tie up all the industries. Not only will the 400,000 bituminous miners who are members of the United Mine Workers strike, but at least 500,000 more who are now working in open shops will go out with them.

"Our demands are just. No man should be permitted to work under ground for more than six hours a day and with the cost of living as it is workers cannot meet their obligations."

Secretary Wilson refused to make any comment prior to the opening of the conference.

Will Urge Maternity Awards for Women Workers

London, Oct. 17.—British working women will recommend to the International Labor Conference in Washington the adoption of a measure granting eight weeks' leave of absence to women workers before childbirth, and twelve weeks' leave afterwards, with maternity awards for every woman employed in industry.

This announcement was made today by Miss Mary Macarthur, chairwoman of the standing joint committee of the industrial women's organization and secretary of Great Britain's largest trade union of women, with a membership of 150,000. She will leave for the United States tomorrow on the Mauretania to attend the Washington conference.

PLAN OF DEALING WITH WORKERS STARTS FIGHT

Charles W. Eliot of Harvard called attention to them with their context, and asked their meaning, he aroused a storm of laughter.

ASK RULING ON RESOLVE.

In their effort to avoid having the conference pass a resolution which might force employers to deal with organized labor as it is represented by unions of the American Federation of Labor—and which might bring about arbitration in the present steel strike—the employers presented a resolution asking the conference to declare the right of employers to deal or not deal with representatives of labor chosen "by and from among" their own employes.

The employers' resolution created a storm of criticism from the public group. The A. F. of L. leaders sat grim and silent at their tables.

In response to some of the criticism directed at them, the employers, with J. W. O'Leary of Chicago as their spokesman, served notice that they would not be hastened or urged by threats of a revolution in America.

It has developed clearly that the machinery of the conference is not satisfactory to all the delegates. There is a desire among some of the delegates to arrange new methods of procedure.

Group voting and the rule that no measure can pass until it has the unanimous consent of all three groups has threatened to disrupt the conference. There is a general feeling, gradually growing, that the conference, to quote one of its members, "did not start out right."

A. B. GATES OF WOBURN PASSES ON IN HUDSON

Alfred B. Gates, a shoe model maker, died in Hudson after an illness of three weeks. He lived with his son, Alfred L. Gates of No. 69 Mill street, Woburn, and was employed in Hudson. Mr. Gates was born in Rochester, N. Y., July 15, 1844 and came to Boston when a young man. He lived in Malden before moving to Woburn. Mr. Gates is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Florence G. Fuller, wife of Commissioner of Electric Lights and Wires Walter I. Fuller of Somerville, and Mrs. Will Pearson of Orange, N. J., and by one sister. The body was removed to the home of his son in Woburn today.

Bride Objected to Being Sent to Bed at 7

Mrs. Sadie A. Jacobs of No. 26 Bradfield avenue, Roslindale, told Judge Hammond in the divorce sessions of the Superior Court today that 7 p. m. was too early to go to bed every night. She said her husband made her retire at that hour and twenty-four days after their marriage, on January 19 of this year, they separated.

The husband, Mark Jacobs, was discharged from the army in April, 1918. He was given a civilian position as superintendent at the Q. M. warehouse on Massachusetts avenue. His experience in the army made him aggressive, the wife testified, and forty-eight hours after the wedding they had their first quarrel.

Two weeks later, she said, she resigned her former position as cashier of a candy store on West street. They lived with her mother in Roslindale.

"Every woman will the proud of a man when he comes out of his army a cook and a baker."

'TEAR BOMBS' TO QUELL MOBS IN GARY

Baker Orders Probe of Strike Plot; Twenty Radicals Arrested in Raids

Gary, Ind., Oct. 17.—The war waged by the military authorities against the "Reds" in Gary was resumed here when six details of soldiers carried out a series of raids on radicals. Twenty men were rounded up and a large quantity of literature confiscated. Ten of those questioned were held.

A quantity of "tear bombs" have been ordered shipped to the troops remaining in Gary. These bombs have no permanent ill effect, it was pointed out, but the gas with which they are filled produces copious tears, temporarily blinding the victims. The bombs will be used in case of further disturbances.

Great significance is seen in the action of Secretary of War Baker in sending Major Thomas E. Crockett, head of the Chicago branch of military intelligence, into Gary. The mission of Major Crockett, it is said, is to hunt down every vine that might be construed as indicating that the "Red" brotherhood planned to seize upon the steel strike to further a reign of violence and disorder among workers.

Major-General Leonard Wood is en route from Gary to Washington.

John Fitzpatrick, president of the Chicago Federation of Labor, said that he would demand of the War Department to furnish the name of every alleged radical member of the federation suspected of fomenting disorder in connection with the steel strike.

From every sector of the steel strike area today came the information that mills continued to operate at from 25 to 50 per cent. normal.

BLAMES EMPLOYERS IN OPTICAL STRIKE

A decision which places the blame for the continuance of the present strike of optical workers entirely upon the shoulders of the employers was given by the State Board of Arbitration and Conciliation.

The decision cites the following facts in exonerating the optical employes of responsibility for the trouble. "The Boston Optical Company, the Andrew Lloyd Company and other members of the Boston Optical Association discharged employes or ordered them to resign unless they withdrew from the optical union.

"While the optical workers expressed no grievance and offered to return to work, their employers still continued to express a conviction that the union would trespass in some way, and they refused to re-employ them."

Men's Brown Suits

The Season's Outstanding Color

English and Scotch Woolens

Ready to put on—all made of Custom Fabrics—materials that are usually shown in single suit lengths by the better-grade custom tailors, the purpose being exclusiveness.

We purchased, in London, a number of full pieces, and have had them made into ready-to-wear suits.

The cloth is the finest it's possible to secure; we venture to say there is no more like it in Boston.

Herringbone weaves, shadow stripes and heather mixtures.

There are suits especially designed for stout men, for unusually tall men, for men under normal stature and for men of regular proportions. Some of the suits are lined throughout, some half lined, others skeleton lined. There are conservative styles and others with a little more ginger—patch pockets, for instance.

Some of these suits are ordinary Fall weight, and others unusually heavy. They are ready to put on.

Many of Boston's Most Substantial Business Men Have Their Clothes Made Here

—Men who in times past were content to pay maximum prices in the most exclusive tailor shops. In looks, wear, style, distinctiveness, fit and all that counts with men who know, our custom-made clothes will compete successfully with those costing very much more in high-priced tailor shops. We court comparisons, as these must inevitably revert to our advantage.

TWO ARRESTED FOR ATTACKING POLICEMAN

Two youths were arrested by State Guardsmen, following an attack upon Francis M. Stanwood, 24, of No. 173 Babcock street, Brookline, a special officer, while he was patrolling near Tremont and Eliot streets. He fired his revolver when knocked down by one of the pair, according to the police, and attracted the attention of the guardsmen, who came to his assistance. They gave their names as James Ryan, of Second street, and John Ryan, of Eighth street, both of South Boston.

1,000 GET PAY RAISE WITHOUT ASKING IT

Clinton, Oct. 17.—Employes of the Higgins-Hartford Carpet Company, numbering about 1,000, were surprised to get an unasked-for increase in wages. The management says it was an adjustment of wages, because some departments were underpaid, but in most instances it was a 10 per cent. advance.

$500,000 GIFT FOR MERCIER EXPECTED

American friends of Belgium hope to be able to present a gift of $500,000 to Cardinal Mercier before his return to his own country, to be used for rehabilitation of the University of Louvain. As the prelate leaves America November 4, the committees working for the fund have been instructed to speed collections.

The executive committee for restoration of the University of Louvain reports increased interest in the drive as a result of the visit of Cardinal Mercier and the Belgian King and Queen.

The university, one of the most famous in Europe for centuries, was burned in 1914, during German occupation, on a night when all the citizens of the town were in their homes. The library was particularly valuable. The famous "Clothmakers Hall" contained one of the richest collections of books and manuscripts on the continent.

WOMAN WINS $6,500 BALM IN LOVE SUIT

Pittsfield, Oct. 17.—Mrs. Daisy E. Gohn of Philadelphia was awarded $6,500 damages for breach of promise from Louis H. Regnier, wealthy Lenox property owner, by the jury which returned its verdict today. She sought $25,000.

The case, which has aroused great interest in this section owing to the prominence of the defendant, was turned over to the jurors early Thursday afternoon. It took them eight hours to reach an agreement. The sealed verdict was delivered to Judge Chase when court opened today by William C. Baldwin of Lee, the foreman.

Mrs. Gohn is thirty-nine, divorced, and the mother of five children. Her acquaintance with Regnier began in Lancaster, Pa., in the Fall of 1917. He was in business at Lenox at that time, and upon his return to Lenox a correspondence between them began and continued until the Spring of 1918. A number of these letters were read during the trial.

Mrs. Gohn said that they had arranged to meet in New York, and it was not until then that she learned that Regnier had an undivorced wife. Regnier's housekeeper objected to the love affair between her employer and the Philadelphia woman, it was brought out during the trial, and wrote Mrs. Gohn a threatening letter telling her to "stay away from Louis or I will get you."

"I love him as do, Katharine, and all the other girls" she wrote.

Regnier is fifty-one years old, and since the beginning of his acquaintance with Mrs. Gohn had retired from the mercantile business in Lenox, although retaining big real estate holdings there. He is a buyer for a department store at Akron, Ohio. He is separated, but not divorced, from his first wife.

NUXATED IRON HELPS MAKE RED BLOOD STRENGTH AND ENDURANCE

If your blood lacks iron be sure you get the right kind of iron—not metallic iron, that is made by the action of sulphuric acid on bits of wire and iron filings—but true organic iron—NUXATED IRON—which most nearly resembles the natural iron of the blood. Nuxated Iron will often increase the strength of weak, nervous, run-down people in two weeks' time. Ask your doctor or druggist.

FOUR MONTHS FOR VOLUNTEER POLICEMAN

A volunteer policeman who gives his name as James W. Crowley and who, the police say, is Henry C. Freeman, was sentenced to four months in the House of Correction for larceny in Roxbury Court today.

Crowley was convicted of having stolen the revolver of a State Guardsman and turned it in at the Roxbury Crossing police station, where he was on duty. The revolver that was issued to him at the police station he kept.

Army officers were in court, attracted by the fact that the man wore the uniform of a discharged soldier, with overseas stripes. They believe that he is not entitled to the overseas stripes, and that he deserted from a Coast Artillery unit in New Jersey.

Crowley, or Freeman, took his communal with a grin. "That's what you get for volunteering," he told Judge Palmer.

The man is twenty-five years old, and claims Bayport, L. I., as his home. The military authorities who investigated his record believe that his home is in San Francisco.

CRAIGS IN "HAMLET" AT THE ARLINGTON

John Craig and Mary Young, with the Arlington Square Theatre stock company, last night offered "Hamlet," the second production of the season in their Shakespearian repertory, to a large audience.

In general the production was well done. Mr. Craig as Hamlet, and Mary Young as Ophelia, scored big and were compelled to come before the curtain several times during the course of the piece. Their lines were adequately recited proving that they can handle Shakespearian characters effectively. Hetty Harnicoat as Gertrude, Queen of Denmark, and Harry Gribbin, as Polonius, played with tact and ease. The latter, in his humorous lines was extremely apt.

The cast, in its entirety, handled their assigned parts with the utmost care and skill. They are to be complimented for their share in a conscientious performance.

The lighting effects were rather disturbing at times, but this was a minor drawback. The specially designed scenery, by Livingston Platt, is fitting. As a whole the production offered by the Craig Players is worthy of being witnessed by all lovers of Shakespeare.

PREDICTS UNION OF INSURANCE AGENTS

Refused Charter by A. F. of L., Local Association Plans an Independent Organization

The 75,000 unorganized insurance agents in this country will shortly convene and form a national association in their efforts to obtain better working and wage conditions, according to Andrew F. Hickey, business agent of the Insurance Agents' Association of Boston.

Mr. Hickey has just returned from Washington, where he attended the national convention of the American Federation of Labor, and where his application for a charter in that organization was refused, according to his statement.

PREDICTS NATIONAL UNION.

"We are already communicating with the insurance agents all over the country to learn just how they feel about the matter, and in my opinion a convention of insurance agents, at which a national organization will be founded, is but a short time away," said Hickey.

"Our petition for a charter in the American Federation of Labor was refused. So were the petitions of five other insurance organizations in the country. There remains only one thing to do to obtain better conditions—organize a national organization of insurance agents. With such an organization, strong as it will be, there will be no need of affiliation with any federation.

"It is safe to say that there are at least 75,000 insurance agents in the country. Of this number perhaps four or five thousand are organized into city associations such as the Insurance Agents of Boston, having no connection with any similar organization.

COMPANIES HOSTILE.

"The agents have made many attempts to organize themselves, for the purpose of improving the conditions of their work, but each attempt has been met by active opposition of the companies and in many cases by the instant discharge of the agent.

"From $15 to $25 is the average pay of the industrial insurance agent. A national organization will do much to better conditions."

UNIVERSALISTS GOING TO BALTIMORE CONVENTION

Large delegations of Boston Universalists are preparing to leave for the biennial session of the General Convention of the Universalist Church, which opens in Baltimore next Tuesday.

The session is expected to be one of the most important since 1870, when the great centennial celebration was held in Gloucester. It will mark the end of the successful drive for $1,000,000, which was launched last March, and also the beginning of the celebration of the 150th anniversary of the founding of the Universalist Church in America. The Rev. Dr. Lee S. McCollester, dean of Crane Theological School, Tufts College, will preside.

DECISIONS IN POLICE STRIKE DEATHS DELAYED

Inquests in five deaths by violence were held in Central Court, and decision was withheld by Judge Holster in the cases of men shot during the police strike until he may discuss testimony with the judge advocate-general.

MRS. PRATT TO WED PRESTON GIBSON

Newport, R. I., Oct. 17.—Rumor says that Mrs. Rogers Benjamin Pratt, recently Mrs. Alexander Dallas Bache Pratt, and Preston Gibson will soon announce their marriage intention. The gossip connecting the two has been so common that the same prediction has been made many times, but now comes a direct announcement from Mr. Gibson's family in Washington that such is to be the case, and that the event will take place in New York before long.

Mrs. Pratt brought suit for divorce from her husband while he was in the army and won a decree in the Superior Court here June 18 of this year. She charged non-support and desertion. Mrs. Pratt is an heiress to a large fortune.

Mr. Gibson has been married before. His first wife was Minna Field, a daughter of Thomas Nelson Page and a niece of Marshall Field of Chicago. He was divorced from her in 1907, and in 1908 married Grace McMillan Jarvis, granddaughter of the late Senator James McMillan of Michigan.

Mr. Gibson is a son of Senator Randall Lee Gibson of Louisiana, and a nephew of Chief Justice White of the United States Supreme Court. He has written a number of plays.

UNLOAD DISCIPLE OF TOLSTOY IN PARK LAKE

New York, Oct. 17.—Solomine Levine, forty years old, was arrested here when, unclothed, he took a swim in Prospect Park Lake, Brooklyn.

Levine said he belonged to a sect of followers of Tolstoy who advocated a back-to-nature movement. He said it cost him 17 cents to furnish his home, and that it cost himself, wife and daughter 25 cents a day for food. He was removed to Bellevue Hospital for examination.

CONFER DEGREE ON COOLIDGE AT WILLIAMS

Williamstown, Oct. 17.—Governor Calvin Coolidge received the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws during the ceremonies with which Williams College welcomed back her soldier sons in his address he said, in part:

"Honor compels that honor be recognized. In compliance with that requirement this day has been set apart by this institution of letters in testimony to the merit of her sons. Nearly one-half of her living alumni were under the direct service of the nation in the great war.

"Earth's great lesson is written here. In it all men may read the interpretation of the founder of this college, of the meaning of America, of the motive high and true which has inspired her soldiers. Not unmindful of a desire for economic justice but scorning sordid gain, not exulting spoils of war but a victory of righteousness, they came, subordinating the finite to the infinite.

"A desire for the earth and the fullness thereof must not lure our people from their truer selves. Those who seek for a sign merely in a greatly increased material prosperity will be disappointed."

CROCKER TELLS WHY HE WILL VOTE FOR WOOD

Courtenay Crocker, in an open letter to Robert M. Washburn, again defends his intention of "scratching" the name of Fred J. Burrell, Republican candidate for State Treasurer, in favor of Chandler M. Wood, Democratic nominee. Crocker declares Burrell is not a strong candidate, and that he is not so well fitted for the job as his opponent.

BARTLETT PLEDGES SUPPORT TO LONG

Explaining why he changed his enrolment as a Republican to that of an Independent, former Representative William Bartlett of North Attleboro has issued a statement to the effect that he is against that section of the primary law which makes party enrolment compulsory.

"Furthermore," he states, "being an Independent placed me in a position to support Richard H. Long for Governor. I am greatly interested in his platform, wherein he states he is out for a five-cent car fare, $160 for the soldiers, with the $5 poll tax abolished, also a graduated income tax."

RAINEY SEEKS REPEAL OF PROHIBITION LAW

Washington, Oct. 17.—A joint resolution repealing the war-time prohibition act was introduced in the House by Representative John R. Rainey, Democrat, of Illinois.

Mr. Rainey was moved to make this new effort to lift the emergency ban by the assurance of Attorney-General Palmer that his resolution of a few days ago would not accomplish that purpose. The previous measure declared it to be the sense of Congress that the objects of the law had been attained and requested the President to declare demobilization of the army complete. It was believed this action automatically would annul the war-time act.

Y. D. CLUB ESTABLISHES TEMPORARY QUARTERS

Temporary headquarters for the Y. D. Club was established today on the eighth floor of army headquarters, with Sergeant Majors James E. Healy of Brookline and J. F. McGrath of Roslindale in charge, under Lieutenant James F. Boyer, Jr.

The executive committee of the club will meet this evening at the City Club. The site of the proposed clubhouse has not yet been selected, though several sites have been looked over. It is proposed to raise over $200,000 for this object.

PLOT TO CORNER DENTAL TRADE IS CHARGED

Boston Association Included in Alleged Nation-Wide Conspiracy

By International News Service.

Washington, Oct. 17. — A nation-wide combination and conspiracy to monopolize the manufacture and sale of dental goods of all descriptions and to force adherence to standard resale prices fixed by the manufacturers, was charged today by the Federal Trade Commission in a complaint filed against the American Dental Trade Association of Boston; the Dental Manufacturers' Club of New York and the Retail Dental Association of Providence, R. I, together with the officers of the organizations.

Representatives of the associations and their memberships were directed to make answer to the complaints by November 21. The combination and conspiracy between the organizations "has produced the following effects upon interstate trade and commerce in dental goods," the complaint charges:

1—Individuals, partnerships and corporations engaged in business as retail dealers have been prevented from increasing their business and have been driven out of business because not being members of the American Dental Trade Association, they have been unable to purchase at wholesale prices supplies produced by association members.

2—Individuals, partnerships and corporations manufacturing dental goods have been prevented from enlarging their business because a large majority of retailers are members of the American Dental Trade Association and refuse to handle dental goods not manufactured by members of that association.

3—Manufacturers and retailers desiring to become members of the trade association have been denied membership because of severe and unreasonable conditions upon which such membership is based.

The complaint further charges that competition among association dealers with respect to discounts and terms of sale with respect to resale prices produced by association manufacturers has been totally extinguished.

SAYS JAPANESE ARE FRUIT PROFITEERS

Eastern buyers of California's fruit products are being forced to pay tribute to Japanese profiteers in that state, according to Professor R. L. Daugherty of Throop College of Technology, Pasadena. Professor Daugherty is visiting Boston. Discussing the increasing numbers of Japanese in California, he said: "It is an American question, this of California remaining a white man's country. Children of other immigrants may become Americans in fact. But these Asiatics will be Japanese still, no matter whether of the first, second or third generation."

HARVARD PROFESSOR CHAMPIONS IMMIGRANT

"It is a great mistake to prohibit entirely immigration to the United States," declares Professor Robert F. Foerster, assistant professor of social ethics at Harvard. "It is wholesome for the United States to admit a certain class of foreigners, and I am sure the objectionable class of aliens could be stopped at the port of entry, or even ejected after two or three years residence here." Professor Foerster believes that within a period of two to five years America will see again a large flow of immigration made up of more French, Belgians and Germans.

AMERICA'S NAVY DOOMED U-BOATS, SAYS VON TIRPITZ

RENEWED SUBMARINE WAR ENDED PEACE HOPES

VON TIRPITZ MEMOIRS.

By ALFRED VON TIRPITZ.

Grand Admiral of the German Navy.

As I had no share in them I can touch but lightly on the proceedings which led up to the reopening of the unrestricted submarine warfare on February 1, 1917.

If it is true that just at the turn of 1916-1917 negotiations were pending between Bethmann and Wilson which promised us, or seemed to the Chancellor to promise us, a satisfactory peace, it is incomprehensible that just at that moment he could let loose the U-boat war.

I cannot think that if the political administration had sufficiently informed the military authorities of these negotiations, the latter would have demanded the resumption of U-boat warfare before the diplomatic situation had been cleared up.

In the Autumn of 1916, in view of the Rumanian attack, the supreme military command, owing to the misstatements of the chancellor and the ambassador to Holland, Von Kuhlmann, believed the danger of war with Holland was imminent and had, therefore, agreed to a certain postponement of the submarine campaign.

After the overthrow of Rumania the scene changed. The supreme military command was doubtful whether we could hold out for another Winter, 1917-1918. As the chief of the naval staff, Von Holtzendorff, thought he could promise that after half a year of submarine war England would be ready to take peace, there grew out of the wish to obtain peace by August, 1917, the belief that the submarine war must begin in February, 1917.

LOST FAITH IN GERMAN POLICY.

This calculation, however, had only a limited application and should not have been allowed to become dogmatic. The old fundamental mistake in our government of keeping the separate departments in the dark as to the situation of the whole was to my mind responsible for the fresh launching of the submarine war at such a time that it interrupted pending diplomatic negotiations.

Wilson felt his confidence in the German policy shaken at this sudden and complete change in the course of negotiations. It was a parallel case to many others of which we had been guilty, including the slap in the face to the czar which was constituted by the Polish proclamation, but at this late stage of the war it almost amounted to the final loss of our capacity for international negotiations.

The bill was soon paid by the German nation as a whole and by the Hohenzollern dynasty in particular.

It was misfortune that the submarine war was conducted by a statesman who was fundamentally averse to it.

When, at last, we staked all on this one venture the first requirement was that all military, naval, political, personal and technical means should be employed to further it. The navy ought to have set aside every other task and to have assigned all available hands and appliances to the building of yards for the construction of submarines and motors.

WHERE THEY FAILED.

The army should have provided workmen. Politics should have been a complement to the war. Diplomacy could not have stood looking on, but should have supported our military forces with all zeal.

Instead of that, concessions were made to European neutrals which weakened the effect of the submarine war and from a technical and military point of view robbed it of that intense concentration which alone, at this advanced stage, could have secured the requisite efficiency.

I leave it an open question as to whether, after my resignation, the building of new submarines continued at as great a speed as was humanely possible. Decisive, however, was the increase in enemy defensive measures which exceeded all our fears. England entered upon the war unprepared for the submarine danger. As soon as she recognized the seriousness of this danger, she with America, concentrated all her efforts and exercises on the creation of defensive measures and weapons. The defence increased at a rate far greater than that with which we could build U-boats.

No discussion of the U-boat question would be complete without mention of some of the most important factors in submarine defence.

The placing of 15,000 guns with trained gun crews on merchant ships, thus changing them into battleships; the systematic patrolling of the seas by airships, aeroplanes and ships; the extensive use of the submarine acoustic apparatus; the construction of destroyers, U-boat traps and water bombs; the laying of defensive obstructions such as U-boat nets and mines; direct measures such as trebling the output of American shipyards, the speedy construction of cargo vessels; the greatest possible storing of provisions; the development of the enemy intelligence service; the fitting up and training of convoys; and finally the continually growing pressure on neutrals which at last ended with the absorption of their tonnage; all helped to defeat the submarine war.

In consequences of these measures the individual U-boat was reduced to one-fifth of her former efficacy. Then, too, later on, many thousands of newly-constructed U-boat destroyers operated against us.

In 1916 our U-boats could still play havoc along the enemy merchant ships, like wolves among sheep; later they had to fight regular battles. A week of submerging had become a dangerous aberration with heavy casualties.

AMERICA TURNED SCALE.

The question now arises whether if the submarine war had begun in the Spring of 1916 instead of 1917 it would not also a year earlier have drawn those multitudes of American soldiers to the continent which in 1918 turned the scale on the west front to our disadvantage.

I pass over the fact without comment that this enormous raising of American troops took up all including the Army administration, by surprise, which fact accounts for the weakening of our fighting force in the West by the detention of a million soldiers in the East for economic reasons, which in the face of the principal aim of the war must be designated as secondary.

I should only like to point out that in 1916 the probability of America sending over troops was far less than a year later. In the first place the greater efficiency of the submarine was against enemy tonnage in 1916, and would from the beginning have limited the developing possibilities of American fighting power. Secondly, at that time America was not yet ripe for war against us.

In February and March, 1916, an overwhelming majority of the American representatives had defied Wilson and declared themselves, as strongly as they could without disavowing their President, in favor of warning Americans against travelling on armed ships of the belligerents. The Senate also supported this view.

ARMING AGAINST LAW.

Moreover the arming of merchant steamers and their use contrary to maritime law was not at that time considered legitimate.

The German administration did not acquaint me fully with those conditions. What I have learned since is convinced me more than ever it, especially before his re-election, Wilson could not have declared war. Even yielding to Wilson for so long I fear of this bogey and by making excuses such as the Rumanian barrier, consideration of the American relief Commission to Belgium, and so forth, we ourselves turned the agony of 1916 into the real danger of 1917.

The great debates in the American house of Representatives and Senate in February and March, 1916, were, as Hallex expressed it, an exhortation to Wilson to keep the peace such as never before had been made so earnestly in Congress to an American President.

On the other hand, however, the success of his knockout note gave to Wilson a position such as had rarely been obtained by an American President and naturally fundamentally altered the attitude of the American people to the U-boat question. According to the opinion of our ambassador, Von Hintze, who at that time passed through America on his way to Peking, the famous telegram of Zimmermann, which was not objected to by the Reichstag and which was designed to incite border disputes between the United States and Mexico, gave decided assistance to Wilson in his opposition to us.

CHANGES IN GERMAN POLICY FATAL TO PEACE PLAN

GAVE WILSON NO CHANCE.

Herr Bailin wrote to me, on July 18, 1917, 'I retain the conviction that if you, when in office, had seen how Wilson was bamboozled; how his ambitious endeavors for peace were frustrated, and how finally by the Mexico telegram he was forced into an impossible situation, you would have considered very seriously as to whether it would be advisable, from a military and political point of view, to announce and commence the unrestricted submarine war without giving Wilson the opportunity of backing out with decency.'

In my reply of July 22, 1917 I said, 'I wish to express the conviction that the intended Reichstag declaration does not seem adv sable to me as regards either home or foreign policy. Even if we took the view that we ought, by a cessation of the submarine war, to come as quickly as possible to an understanding with Wilson, it seemed to me from a purely business standpoint a mistake at the same time to deprecate the effect of the submarine war before the whole world and to whine for peace.

(Editor's Note—The Reichstag declaration to which Von Tirpitz refers probably was the so-called "Peace Proclamation" declaring that Germany sought a peace of justice.)

"As you know on February 1 1918 a surprise was sprung upon me by the declaration of the submarine war with regard to method and time. The surprise was the greater because on January 27th the then Chancellor and I had agreed to a temporary postponement of the submarine war. After we had however communicated this military decision to the world, and that with a certain flourish of trumpets, we were bound to stand to it.

"By our continual and for the most part undignified yielding to the insulting procedure of Wilson we made his position an ideal by which he was bound to stand.

"I will not here enter into the awkward and unfortunate manner in which we treated the Russian case. In the spring of 1918 the United States would not have declared war upon us. The deliberations at that time in Congress [illegible] Then was the given [illegible] unrestricted [illegible] We as well as [illegible] a considerable [illegible] nomic attention [illegible] was unable to declare [illegible] nine war [illegible] its full effect [illegible] our disposal [illegible] have been able [illegible] ersions to negotiate [illegible] later seemed possible to [illegible] authority.

"In fact on February 1st of that year we were [illegible] of a great [illegible] there were [illegible] tion was [illegible] ber of other counter measures.

"Naturally it was not [illegible] forehand to fix the exact rate of [illegible] these counter measures will [illegible] terbalance our production of [illegible] but it was perfectly obvious [illegible] counter-balancing [illegible] Therefore from an economic point of and military [illegible] mistake to postpone the [illegible] in 1918. I was strengthened [illegible] conviction became [illegible] never underestimated the [illegible] men of America in the war.

"But although I [illegible] of its tardy commencement regarding present conviction that [illegible] have declared the submarine war, nothing remained but for us to continue it with indomitable energy. If England is forced to give in a peace which will be the basis of the restoration of our economic position and an assured position in the world.

"I also believe that we can still gain such a result by a war against enemy tonnage though it will be more difficult and take longer than it would previously have done."

GREW IN POWER.

Even if America had acted in 1916 as she later did in 1917 we would have been in a better position to meet her. Certainly America would al-

the destructive effect of our diplomatic blunders in the treatment of Wilson, especially from the time of the Sussex note to the Mexico telegram was alone responsible for the astonishing vehemence with which the American nation plunged into a war so foreign to its own interests.

ALL-WOOL BOYS' CLOTHING TESTED AND CERTIFIED

By Our Own Consulting Chemists

Costs No More in the Boys' Own Store Than Clothing Which Is Not All Wool

We know what the suits and coats we sell are made of before we place them on sale.

In the first place we have the reputation of the high-grade makers from whom we buy back of every garment. Then we have our own knowledge of fabrics. But sometimes, notwithstanding all usual precautions something will slip—and in the hurry of [illegible] a little cotton will get in where it doesn't belong. Now, cotton is all right in its proper place. A mixture of cotton with wool is sometimes better for some purposes, than all wool. But if we advertise "all wool" we intend it to be all wool and nothing else. And so that we may be certain as science about it, so that our customers may have proof that no one can question, we have the materials subjected to the absolutely disinterested and pitiless analysis of the laboratories of Arthur D. Little, Inc., at Cambridge.

Only today we discovered that two lots of suits which were sold to us as all wool contained, in fact, a little cotton. True, it was so little that it took a chemist to find it, but they will be described and sold for exactly what they are.

MRS. FISKE ENDS LOVE QUARREL BY TACT

Recalls Suit of Belasco and Frohman in "Mis' Nelly of N'Orleans"

How David Belasco and the late Charles Frohman once came to blows in a quarrel over Minnie Maddern Fiske was recalled by that actress in a reminiscence growing out of "Mis' Nelly of N'Orleans." This is the title of the new play in which she will appear at the Hollis Street Theatre next Monday.

It was in the old days, when Belasco had already been "courting" young Minnie Maddern for some time, his delicate attentions, says Mrs. Fiske, usually took the form of an invitation to "take a ride," the ride being on the New York Elevated. The two would ride back and forth, from one terminus to the other.

At last a night arrived when the actress was to appear in a new play. Both Belasco and Frohman conceived a sparkling novelty of an idea to toss a bouquet to the stage door. Unfortunately, the two met, words led to blows. No serious casualties resulted, but Mrs. Fiske says she felt like a heroine of mediaeval romance.

In the play, when a somewhat similar situation arises, Mis' Nelly settles the dispute by saying to one of the belligerents, "I'll marry you." While everybody knows that this is not the way she settled the Belasco-Frohman controversy, just how it was settled is still a mystery. She does not remember that far.

Angello Alcovay, eighteen, of Newton street, Waltham, was fined $10, and Leo Barbo, sixteen, of Oak street, Waltham, $5, for stealing apples in the Newton Court today. The fruit was alleged to have been stolen from the estate of ex-Mayor Charles Hatfield in West Newton.

DIVORCED ON HER 20TH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Today, on the twentieth anniversary of her wedding, Mrs. Minnie P. Hayes of Mattapan was granted a divorce. She was married to John L. Hayes at Hyde Park on October 16, 1899. Cruelty and desertion were the allegations of Mrs. Hayes. Her husband was formerly a whiskey salesman, she said, but since the era of prohibition he has gone into the automobile business. He deserted her, the wife claimed, on Christmas, 1915. When the court announced the decree, Mrs. Hayes' daughter, Madelaine, who accompanied her in court, fainted and became hysterical.

A Difference of Opinion That Affects Your Pocketbook

These are halcyon days for those clothing merchants who believe in getting all they can for their merchandise. Good clothes are scarce and high in price, and men are paying $60 easier than they used to pay $25. It's "good business" in the opinion of many to take advantage of these conditions to make some extra profits to lay up against the day when business may not be so good.

But, as we have intimated, there's a difference of opinion on this subject. And that difference of opinion is responsible for the difference between this Live Store's prices and those quoted you in most other places—a difference so great as to mean a good many dollars in or out of your pocket according to where you buy your clothes.

Our way of giving the biggest possible value for the money instead of getting all the money possible for our merchandise is not a get-rich-quick method of doing business. But it makes us hosts of staunch friends and loyal customers whose good will and future patronage are worth far more to us than the extra profits.

Kuppenheimer Clothes

These choice clothes offer us quite a temptation to depart from our long established policy. For at $5, $10 or even $15 more per garment, they'd still compare favorably with almost anything to be found elsewhere. Not in the role of public benefactors, but in the belief that it's the right and honest thing for us to do, we're selling them at the comparatively low prices of $35 $40 $45 $50 $55

Equally good values in proportion to their price are the less expensive suits that we sell at $25 and up

The same may be said of the exceptionally handsome Fall Overcoats in a wide variety of styles at $20 to $45

When They Ought to Be All Wool

Silk and wool mixtures and even cotton and wool mixtures have their proper place in apparel and have their superior advantages for special purposes.

NATE SIEGAL SEEKS REVENGE IN BOUT WITH DUFFY

By JACK CONWAY.

Nate Siegal, Revere welterweight, says he is going to get revenge when he clashes with Billy Duffy of Everett in the feature bout of ten rounds at the Commercial A. C. tonight. The champion of the Sid Division is seeking dear old revenge because Duffy was so unkind as to land him a wallop in their recent tussle.

Duffy is one of those whirling two-handed fighters who does not worry a great deal as to who his opponent is. As a result he didn't put in any mourning when Siegal came with a few months back. He did not even get worried when it that the Revere man had won twenty-seven fights in France.

All Duffy did was to train carefully for the contest and then go in and spoil Siegal as he did Shaver O'Brien at the Armory A. A. a few days ago. All of which may not be good ethics, but it's a mighty fine way to get ahead in the fighting game.

YALE WILL USE MANY SUBS IN BOSTON COLLEGE TILT

New Haven Oct 17 —Yale will present against Boston College tomorrow an eleven which is almost entirely made up of players who have shown rapid development during the past two or three weeks, but who have by no means established their standing as permanent members of the team

Captain Callahan has resumed practice after two weeks absence because of slight injury to knee and the Yale team that will represent old Eli on Soldiers field tomorrow is certain of being in the pink of condition. Knee

Quarterback Mahon is said slightly the worse for wear and will not start the game tomorrow, but Coach Fisher has every confidence in the ability of Mahon to direct the Yale team in the absence of Callahan. Mahon has been in the game for the last two weeks and is said to be in fine shape. Yale has won the toss in every game this season and has elected to defend the south goal in the first period in every game this year.

WELLS AT HALFBACK.

Donald Wells has been given more backfield practice than any member of the squad. He will be the choice for one of the halfback positions and is at present the selection of Manager Aldrich for the other. Hinkey, who has been removed from quarterback and probably will start the game at Yale field, is the other pair of heels who will be used in part of the game tomorrow. Price, Neville, the former freshman quarterback, who is the younger brother of Hartley Neville, and Murphy, have been used in fullback position as quarterbacks this week, and will start the game against Boston College.

Murphy is a veteran, valuable all-around backfield player of the squad. As a punter running the eleven brilliantly at quarterback and passing a long, hit-or-miss game of high quality, he is one of the most valuable all-around players of the squad. He has been doing fine work and one of the best punters and drop kickers.

NEWCOMERS IN FLANKS.

In the ends Pye Abare and Alex Bate retained the end positions for two weeks. They are newcomers at playing basket football. Abare is fighting and playing hard to stop Bate's rush to feed Graham deprived the team of its most punishing end rush candidate. He has just returned to practice.

William Kirkpatrick, who has been recovering from a bad case of tackle, has been out of the line up for nearly two weeks and is not likely to play tomorrow. Hall and Leon Walker have been given the end positions but Dickey, who has progressed from the fourth eleven to the varsity in as many weeks, has been tried out at left tackle the past week and may be started against Boston College ahead of Hamill.

GUARD POSITIONS SETTLED.

The guard positions are probably settled with Carter Hart and John Acosta as the incumbents. Galt is playing has been get-edged all the season and Acosta, who is naturally a centre rush is now adapting himself ideally to the fine points of the position of guard. Trap a cousin of Roswell Trapp one of Yale's best players fifteen years ago Saturday and Zenner complete a trio of reserve guards who are much in advance of the Yale scrub in this standard

B. C. SQUAD OFF TO MEET ELIS IN BOWL

The squad consisted of the following players: Captain Fitzpatrick, Quigley, McGravey, Swan, Madden, Scanlon, Hughes, O'Hare, Urban, Comerford, Ryan, Burke, Duffy, Mullen, Sheehan, Noland, Doyle, Kelly, McGlynn, Lyons, Fox, White, Sulloway, Kelly and Morgan.

Fitzpatrick, who will be a veteran from the eligible list, has offered the Harvard game and the followers of the Maroon and Red are looking to him for a repetition of the drop-kick route of Boston College gets with it, should a chance come its way. Fitzpatrick's punting was a feature of the Harvard contest, and there is no fear in the minds of Scanlon college can stop he will be outkicked by the Yale punter.

Heights the league centre will be closely watched by the Blue, as he worried Harvard considerably. Although he is outweighed by the Yale Captain and centre, Callahan, the Blue pivot will have his hands full with such aggressive tussler. Boston College will rely on its open play to dazzle Yale. The team is light but fast and coach Chamberlain has impressed upon the backs the need of getting the jump.

Even Betting Rules in Harvard-Yale Game Wagers

Bets on the big game at New Haven Saturday will be made in accordance with the following rules, which have been agreed upon by representatives of the two universities, it was announced yesterday by Percy D. Haughton, coach of Harvard, who is now in New York. The rules will be observed by the Yale and Harvard alumni committees in charge of betting for the 1919 game. They are as follows:

Moving Picture DIVIDENDS IN 60 DAYS

Read Every Word of This Story. It Is Very Important To You.

American Cinema Corporation Making Amazing Record in One Year Witholds Stock from Public Until Officers Put Company in Position to Pay Dividends

That single point about the dividends we have in the form of a personal statement from Mr. Walter F. Niebuhr, the president of the company, as follows:

"I expect to pay substantial dividends on the stock within sixty days." Mr. Niebuhr was producing director of the U. S. Government film department, and made such wonderful pictures as "Pershing's Crusaders," "Columbia's Call," and others with which you are familiar.

Three Great Five Reel Pictures already Completed with Louise Huff & Mollie King. Three others including one with E. K. Lincoln, Under Way. First Opportunity Now Offered to Share in Generous Profits Open Only Twenty Days.

Over $200,000 Already Expended in Organization and Production.

THIS is a straight-out proposal to you to buy shares in a moving picture company that has already produced, and is engaged in producing photodramas of the highest class. In other words, you are offered an opportunity to participate in profits from a GOING CONCERN!

We are specialists in motion picture securities, and our experience is based upon several years' study of this industry, and when we say to you that the profits of this newest of American industries would astound conservative business men of twenty or thirty years ago we are putting the matter mildly.

For some months we have been watching the activities of the American Cinema Corporation because we believed that its future was more promising than that of any of the moving picture corporations we had knowledge of. We watched its gradual rise to the point where last month it put forth great electrically illuminated signs telling of its newest pictures and its star players, and at that point we determined to make a proposal to the officers of the company for a block of stock to sell to our clients.

First Offering to Public

To our astonishment we were told that the company did not care about disposing of ANY of its stock. We do not mind saying that it required several weeks of our best effort to overcome that disinclination. Among the first questions that we asked was what proportion of the stock had already been sold to the public.

"Not one share," was the answer. "We've been getting the company in shape for business, and in producing our first pictures. Now we have three fine five-reel photoplays finished, one of these sold at a handsome profit, and arrangements made for the sale of the other two within the next thirty days. We have three of the most popular screen stars under contract; a corps of experienced directors at work with three companies out at the splendidly-equipped studio at Glendale, Long Island, making three new plays, and eleven more really important photodramas in preparation. Within sixty days from October first the company will be on a sound dividend paying basis. We've got tangible property that backs our stock and our plans. The finished pictures are worth more than $300,000."

Ten Dollars Per Share

We realized that the circumstances were exceptional, and that only confirmed us in our efforts to get some of this stock for our clients. Our original proposal was to take ALL the remaining stock and market it. We did not succeed, but we did finally arrange to have 30,000 shares of the stock—that is, one-quarter of the total capitalization of the company—placed in our hands and we had to be satisfied with that. One of the facts that made us so persistent in our desire to secure some of this stock was that our investigations proved to us that the company ALREADY HAS A WELL-DEVELOPED EARNING POWER AT THIS VERY MOMENT!

This offer will remain available to you for a period of TWENTY DAYS ONLY. If you omit to secure your portion of this exceptional investment in that time, you have missed what, in our opinion, is one of the great opportunities of the year. We believe that this is a truly splendid chance to share in the profits of what must prove one of the great money-making corporations engaged in the making of moving pictures, but, please remember, it is an opportunity that is yours FOR TWENTY DAYS ONLY.

We have 30,000 shares of the total capital stock of the company, — 120,000 shares of a par value of $5) and we are offering this fully paid and non-assessable stock to you on the strictly cash terms of $10 a share.

This initial offering to you at $10 a share is based first upon the low capitalization of the American Cinema Corporation; second, upon its exceptional assets which will be further outlined; third, upon tremendous earning power of many times its capital, and fourth, on the anticipation of high dividend returns which should begin almost immediately. As an example of the possibilities of this industry only a few months ago Famous Players-Lasky Company stock which has no par value could be bought for $16 a share, and today it is selling at 650% advance on that price. As an indication of the dividend possibilities of the moving picture business let us cite to you the present financial situation of the great Famous Players-Lasky Company just mentioned.

Extraordinary Returns

A short time ago we received a copy of its semi-annual statement. This briefly mentions that the company is doing a gross annual business of over $30,000,000. Note that, please! It further sets forth that the net profits for 1918 were $1,281,174. Then it quietly announces that the NET PROFITS FOR THE FIRST SIX MONTHS OF 1919 ARE $2,439,337! IN OTHER WORDS THE NET PROFITS FOR HALF OF THIS YEAR ARE DOUBLE THE PROFITS FOR ALL OF LAST YEAR!

What industry in the world presents possibilities like that?

The exceptional condition of the American Cinema Corporation gives promise of amazing results in profit possibilities. We saw, as soon as we began our investigations, that tremendous expansion must follow. When we observe the excellent showing it has made within the year, we feel that this means eventually a greater capitalization that will give those who are stockholders at that time handsome stock dividends. You know how the early investors in Standard Oil, American Light & Traction, Sears, Roebuck & Co. and other great corporations have reaped fortunes from their early holdings. Only recently the great Goldwyn Pictures Corporation increased its capital stock from $3,000,000 to $20,000,000.

For your information the American Cinema Corporation was organized under the laws of the State of New York in October, 1918. Its officers are Walter F. Niebuhr, president; Samuel P. Blackman, vice-president and secretary, and Harry Glaser, treasurer.

The company is in splendid condition. Knowing what we do of moving picture companies we have no hesitation in saying to you that we have found nothing better in our experience. The amazing and careful manner in which the officers have conducted the company affairs are so unusual that we feel you will want to know of them. For example, as we told you, no stock has been sold to the public, but the men who organized the company HAVE FURNISHED OVER $200,000 OF THEIR OWN MONEY TO PUT THE ORGANIZATION ON A PRODUCING BASIS BEFORE THEY HAVE PERMITTED YOU TO BUY A SINGLE SHARE OF STOCK. THEY RISKED THEIR MONEY BEFORE THEY PERMITTED YOU TO INVEST YOURS!

Great Players Engaged

The company has contracts with three of the most popular moving picture stars of the country. These are Mollie King, the dainty, charming, musical comedy star who has created a sensation in moving picture circles in the last two years; delightfully winsome Louise Huff, known to picture patrons all over the world, and for two years one of the chief attractions of the Famous Players Company, and E. K. Lincoln, admittedly one of the greatest screen attractions of recent years. In addition to these premier players the company has engaged Frank Mills, one of the most capable actors of America; Howard Kyle, who for years headed his own stage company; Howard Truesdale, one of the most versatile players of two continents, and Robert Ames, Vin Dyke Brooke, William Riley Hatch, Agnes Ayres and others.

Then, in order that nothing that technical skill could provide should be missing this amazing company sent out to Los Angeles and engaged Lucius Henderson, formerly supervising director of the great Universal Film Company, John M. Stahl and R. William Neill. Mr. Stahl enjoys an enviable record as a picture director, having produced "Her Code of Honor," with Florence Reed, "Wives of Men," "Women Under Oath," and many other fine features. Mr. Neill has made many of the splendid productions in which you have seen Dorothy Dalton, and recently the immensely popular picture play, "The Career of Katherine Bush," in which Catherine Calvert has been starred. The present 1918-1920 plans provide for five special features with Mollie King in the chief roles; six big feature productions starring Louise Huff, and six premier photodramas featuring E. K. Lincoln.

Net Profits of $800,000

As we have told you, the American Cinema Corporation has already three pictures completed. The first of these is "Greater Than Love," with Mollie King; the second is "The Stormy Petrel," with Louise Huff, and the third is "Women Men Forget," with Miss King. "Greater Than Love" has already been sold on exceptionally advantageous terms to a great distributing organization, now handling the pictures of America's three greatest stars. Two other big distributing companies are negotiating for other photoplays of the company. Experts who have seen the three completed picture dramas say that they leave nothing to be desired; that they are of the highest class, and that if there are a sample of the product that the company intends furnishing the public, it will occupy one of the big positions of the industry.

We have inquired into the costs of the pictures completed. The officers of the company state that the pictures they have made and are producing cost from $30,000 to $75,000 each, and that these sell for sums that will net not less than 100 per cent. profit. At a very conservative estimate made by the company officials NET PROFITS OF NOT LESS THAN $800,000 SHOULD ACCRUE TO THE COMPANY WITHIN THE NEXT FIFTEEN MONTHS. President Niebuhr has stated unequivocally that HE WILL BE ABLE TO PAY SUBSTANTIAL DIVIDENDS WITHIN SIXTY DAYS FROM OCTOBER FIRST!

133⅓ on Capitalization

From the plans and the accomplishments of this amazing company which conscientiously and conservatively put itself on a dividend paying basis before it permitted you to buy a single share of its stock, these estimated profits should be largely exceeded. The estimated profits mentioned above FIGURE UP TO 133 PER CENT. ON THE CAPITAL STOCK.

And please remember that this company is an ACTUALLY GOING CONCERN. It has made three pictures, E. K. Lincoln is at work with a big company of players in the Adirondacks making the first of his special productions which will be called "The Inner Voice," and three companies are at work on three other pictures out at the Glendale studio at this writing!

But the profits estimated above are not all the incomes assured to the company. There are the IMMENSELY VALUABLE foreign rights. Europe, Asia, Africa and South America, buy our picture plays and pay fabulous sums for them. The American Cinema Corporation has signed an exceptionally valuable contract for its foreign picture rights. This contract guarantees an advance payment of one-third the cost of each picture, and also that the company shall share in the foreign business on the basis of 50 per cent. of the gross receipts. And we want you to know that frequently the foreign profits on photoplays equal the American profits!

Only 20 Days to Buy

From what we know of the plans and the contracts of this most promising company, no one need be astonished if the gross profits LARGELY EXCEED WHAT WE HAVE STATED ABOVE.

As to the possibilities for future productions President Niebuhr announces that he has secured the photoplay rights to a great number of the famous stage successes of recent years, and that these will be turned into great feature photoplays. This assures the company of good material for years to come.

We are authorized to offer you this stock at a flat price of $10 a share, no more, no less, and the stock will be issued in exactly the order in which the coupons and remittances come in. We reserve the right, however, to reject or reduce any subscription.

You have twenty days only before the closing of this offer. Perhaps the stock will last that long, and—perhaps it won't. We're not prophets, we're salesmen, but if you take our advice you won't sleep too many nights over this offer.

We've only one final word for you. Application is shortly to be made for listing stock of the American Cinema Corporation on the New York Curb market. Before many weeks American Cinema stock won't be selling as low as $10 a share if we are judges, and we think we are. Boston Has Firm Start and Improves With New York

At the start the Boston market was firm, with most price alterations favorable. It became strong with New York, with most of the trading in issues which have been leaders of late. Mullins Body advanced to a highest record price. Davis Daily was active among mining stocks and sold at its previous high for the year. Elder was another leader and advanced a fraction. Root & Van Dervoort was lower from the opening. It is expected that at the special meeting to be held by the listing committee of the New York Stock Exchange this afternoon that Mullins Body and Root & Van Dervoort will be admitted to trading.

Among issues to advance a point or more during the morning were Parish & Bingham, Pacific Mills, Edison and Fairbanks. Stocks to decline fractionally included Calumet & Arizona, Copper Range, East Butte, Stewart, New England Telephone and Bigheart. The market was stronger on the whole in the second hour than in the first, although the price range continued to be rather narrow. Trading was of good volume during the morning.

10 to 100 Share Lots

Many people not accustomed to stock transactions want to buy shares in American Cinema Corporation, but do not know exactly how to go about it. Guy E. Tripp, Chairman of Board, Westinghouse Electric & Mfg. Co., New York.

The following has been summarized from a letter from the President, P. J. White:

PROPERTIES—The WHITE OIL CORPORATION will engage generally in the petroleum business. It will commence business as a thoroughly rounded oil organization with leases on selected oil and gas acreage in Louisiana, Texas, Kentucky, Oklahoma, Kansas and other states; also pipe lines, refineries, a complete marketing and distributing organization, etc.

The Corporation will acquire the holdings accumulated by the White Brothers during the past three and a half years, comprising carefully selected oil or gas leases upon and undivided interests in the equivalent of 26,950 acres, net; also two casing head gasoline plants with a combined output of 2,000 gallons daily.

WHITE OIL CORPORATION will own more than 100,000 shares out of 160,000 shares outstanding of the Crown Oil & Refining Company, with leases upon and undivided interests in the equivalent of about 81,500 acres net of oil and gas lands, now producing Gulf Coast crude oil at the rate of about 5,000 barrels per day from its developed property; and a new 5,000-barrel seaboard refinery, practically completed, on the Houston Ship Channel.

The 1,000-barrel refinery at Clarendon, Pa., together with tank cars, yard equipment, pipe lines, etc., leases upon and undivided interests in the equivalent of about 6,800 acres net of oil and gas lands, and the successful distributing business of the Clarendon Refining Company will also be acquired by the WHITE OIL CORPORATION. The Clarendon Company's gross sales in 1918 exceeded $6,000,000, and distribution covered domestic and foreign markets.

All the above described properties will be acquired directly or indirectly for stock, and all the proceeds of the stock purchased by the syndicate will go into the treasury for construction and other corporate requirements.

WORKING CAPITAL AND DEVELOPMENT PLANS—With the treasury cash in excess of $9,000,000, with which it commences business, the management will inaugurate an intensive drilling campaign on the present properties; and proposes immediately to construct an 8-inch pressure pipe line from the North Central Texas Oil Fields to a location to be acquired on the Texas Gulf Coast, and a 15,000-barrel refinery at the tidewater terminus of the line.

EARNINGS—President White's estimates, supported by careful investigations by independent experts, are that after completion of the construction program now planned, and excluding results from expected increase in production of crude oil from the company's extensive acreage, earnings at the rate of approximately $10,000,000 annually will be realized, which, after Federal taxes, etc., will leave a surplus of about $6,300,000, or the equivalent of $10 a share on the WHITE OIL CORPORATION stock now to be issued. While the proposed refinery and pipe line are in process of construction, net earnings should, he estimates, be at the rate of over $3.50 per share per annum after all taxes, exclusive of earnings from increased production on present acreage.

MANAGEMENT—P. J. White, formerly associated as senior partner with Harry F. Sinclair in the firm of White & Sinclair, will head the organization of WHITE OIL CORPORATION. He is a successful operator, with over twenty years' experience. Since the dissolution of White & Sinclair, upon the sale of its properties, about three years ago, Mr. White has operated with his brother, Thomas White, under the name of White Brothers.

Thomas White will be in charge of production and pipe lines. His experience has been coincident with and similar to that of P. J. White. As General Manager of White & Sinclair he had under his jurisdiction the production of upward of 32,000 barrels of oil daily with the pipe line operations incident thereto.

Frank H. Bethell will be in charge of finances. As First Vice-President of the New York Telephone Company and President of all other companies in the Eastern group of the Bell system, which covers the Middle Atlantic States, he was in direct charge of operation, maintenance, construction and finance, and brings to the White Oil Corporation a high degree of ability in the administration of its finances and expenditures.

J. W. Colvin will be in charge of refineries and distribution. He is Vice-President and General Manager of the Clarendon Refining Company and also Vice-President in charge of refining and distribution of the Crown Oil & Refining Company. He has built up, and will bring to the WHITE OIL CORPORATION, a strong refining and marketing organization.

It is expected that application will be made to list this stock on the New York Stock Exchange.

JUMP IN USE OF SUGAR IN U. S. 22.5 P. C.

According to the U. S. Sugar Equalization Board during the nine months ended by September, refined sugar delivered into domestic consumption totalled 3,243,000 long tons, or 1,244,000,000 pounds more than during the corresponding period last year. This 22.5 per cent. increase is independent of exports.

During nine months this year the American people consumed 356,000 tons more than the normal amount. In nine months in 1919 per capita consumption was 70 pounds against 78 pounds for the whole of 1918. For the last quarter of this year there is available for the American people 875,000 tons. It is said.

"In spite of a world shortage of nearly 2,000,000 tons in the world production, as compared to normal the American people have been supplied with one-quarter of the world's sugar production and one-half of the world's exportable surplus while all the rest of the world, including our Allies, France, England and Italy, are all on short rations clamoring for sugar.

"All this sugar has been supplied at a wholesale price of 8½ cents per pound and the retail price of about 11-12 cents per pound while people pay 16.18 cents wholesale in England 12½ cents and other countries much higher prices.

BIG GAINS BY SPECIALTIES A FEATURE

Atlantic Gulf Sells at Its Highest Record Price

By W. H. ROSS,
Financial Editor.

Stocks were strong in New York at noon, having moved upward at the beginning of the session. But by 12 o'clock most issues were below their morning highest, including oils, motors and steels. A feature of the market was large gains by a number of specialties. Trading was active, transactions for the first hour totalling almost 400,000 shares. The opening call rate was 10 per cent. Foreign exchange rates were lower.

Among stocks to show the largest gains were Atlantic Gulf, which sold at its highest record price; American Tobacco, American Woolen, California Packing, Pullman, Haskell & Barker, May Department Stores, Owens Bottle, New York Air Brake and Transo & Williams.

MARKET STARTED STEADY.

The market was steady at the start, with most price changes toward a higher level. Neither advances nor declines at the outset were pronounced on the whole when averaged and the trading element was governed for awhile by the uncertainty which is dominating public affairs at present. The strike called for soft coal miners, reports from Washington concerning the status of the labor conference, President Wilson's illness, the money tension and some minor influences all served to promote cautious as to commitments.

After a brief period of hesitation prices advanced all along the line. Within half an hour the market became strong, a number of specialties showing the largest gains. Savage Arms and Owens Bottle were among them. The latter gained six points, which was the gain for Pullman. Motors were strong, with General Motors and Republic Motors especially so. Pierce Arrow sold at its highest record price. Steels rallied, while U. S. Steel, which had opened unchanged, in the lead.

BIG GAINS BY SOME.

Hide & Leather preferred was prominent in the upward swing, gaining more than three points and selling at the highest price it has ever attained. New York Air Brake was strong among equipments. American Woolen climbed four points in earliest dealings. American Bosch Magneto reared right along to a high-est record price around the end of the hour. Oils were comparatively quiet during that period, but advanced. Pan-American gained the most. It is reported that the turnover of oil money on the New York Exchange yesterday approximated $10,000,000 in amount, with the rate 10 per cent. all day.

BOSTON CURB EXCHANGE —IN NEW QUARTERS

The Boston Curb Exchange is now housed at No. 27 Exchange street, where it has better facilities for conducting a stock market than it possessed in the Doane street building, which it tenanted since 1909. During the ten years that have elapsed since it moved indoor it has graduated a number of important securities.

The Boston Curb came into existence in 1905, and has grown in value and esteem ever since its inception. Its management has been able and enterprising. It is a big institution.

Crude Oil Production

Production of crude oil in this country will exceed 370,000,000 barrels in 1919, according to the rate of output for the first eight months. This exceeds previous estimates by 10,000,000 barrels.

MOST smokers find straight Turkish cigarettes over-rich. Why? Too much Turkish.

They prefer Fatima with its "just enough Turkish" blend —just enough to taste right and leave them feeling right.

Write Senators and Let Them Know Your Sentiments

An organized and largely financed campaign is on foot to make senators believe that the majority of you folks favor the ratification of the treaty as it stands.

Now, we know well that a majority of you do not.

But how are the senators to know this unless you tell them?

Paid agents of the international bankers are carrying on a letter-writing campaign.

The mails of senators are full of these letters.

That they are the result of paid propaganda work is evident enough. But nevertheless they have an effect upon senators, especially when you people keep quiet and say nothing.

Now, no international bankers are paying agents to go out among you people and persuade you to write to your senators.

The international bankers don't want your kind of sentiment to reach senators.

But it ought to reach senators.

You ought to see to it that senators do know what you think —what your sentiments are.

Reach for your pen or your typewriter and send a letter to every senator you know this very day.

If you do not know any senator, address letters to the Senate committee on foreign relations—to Senator Lodge, or Senator Moses, or Senator Knox, or Senator McCumber, or Senator Hitchcock, or any other member of the committee.

Write a letter every day to some senator whose name you know. The address of every senator is simply Senate Chamber, Washington, D. C.

This is not a small matter. You will be doing a great public service. You don't need to write a long letter. Just tell the senator you want the treaty amended to be American, or rejected altogether.

Be as brief as you like and as emphatic as you like.

Let senators know how you feel.

The trouble is that you folks keep quiet and let the interests who want to surrender our America to the International Plunderbund make all the noise.

Get up and make yourself heard.

Speak a word of cheer to the men who are making the good fight for our America in the Senate.

Do it today—right now, the minute you finish reading this.

Yes, Lawyers Are Important

And When They Become Judges They Are Powerful. They Can Make Laws by Twisting Laws, or by Ignoring Laws, and They Stick to Each Other, as Doctors Do, Never Criticizing Each Other's Doubtful Cases

Copyright, 1919, Star Company.

Mr. Markewich, young lawyer and Assistant District Attorney of New York County, talked about a judge, and that judge's kindness to the street car corporation.

He was hauled up for contempt of court, although he didn't talk in court; he apologized and was forgiven.

He did well to apologize. You may say in general terms what the writer of the "Song of Roland" said about the death of Roland. One hundred thousand men fell on the ground fainting (cent mille hommes tombent a terre pames) when they heard that Roland was dead. Of some Federal and other judges you might truly say that if one of them died at least a thousand corporation owners would fall on the ground fainting, and for good cause.

But you must not pick out any particular judge and say the truste would all faint if he died. In the first place you might be mistaken. Some men are not corrupt, only foolish, natural-born toadies to wealth. Besides, you can't prove it, and that is awkward.

Judge Mayer of New York recently spoke well of the duties and responsibilities of lawyers.

Judge Mayer said very truly that lawyers causing disrespect for the court attack and undermine the Government.

All this is true; and more is true. If a lawyer encourages disrespect for the courts he undermines government. For courts must be respected, even though an occasional judge may make it difficult.

Judge Mayer undoubtedly would add that THE JUDGE who encourages disrespect for the courts by showing too great servility to corporations, too little respect for the law and the people, also undermines government.

Bad judges have had much to do with overthrowing government.

What is needed—and we believe that Judge Mayer and a majority of the other honest judges will indorse the statement—is to give the people power to remove judges as well as power to choose judges.

Recall of all public officials, including judges, would make doubtful criticism unnecessary. It would supply a tribunal before which all might appear. Some judges would object to giving the people the right to remove their own officials. Those judges would include men having the best private reasons for objecting.

CONTENTMENT AND THE COST OF LIVING

You are worrying a whole lot, making the members of your family unhappy, because your increased income does not go so far as the small salary of other days.

Don't you realize that if your pay has not increased proportionately to living costs that your family is not to blame?

If you have an economical family, the different members living as cheaply as possible, why harass them and disturb that peace of mind which is essential to comfort?

Daily arguments breed discontent and resentment, the more so if unjust.

Your home is not the only one where the same struggle is going on. Be sensible.

Because you find it hard to get ahead on what you earn, you need not drive peace and happiness from your fireside or the family circle.

Home contentment is the most valuable thing in life.

Keep the good feeling, no matter what is the cost of living.

More Truth Than Poetry

THE LEAGUE THAT FAILED

By S. E. KISER

GREENE, Roberts, Anderson and Wood and Honeywell and Clegg
And Peterson and Brown and Hood and Jones and Gray and Gregg
Decided that it would be wise to cease to act alone;
In other words, to organize a leaguelet of their own;
They signed a covenant whereby it was agreed that all
Should hasten forth to do or die at any member's call.

THEN Jones and Honeywell and Brown met secretly at night;
Some things at their end of the town were not exactly right.
"Let's use our league," said Honeywell, "to serve our special ends;
I own some lots I'd like to sell; we need a park, my friends;
Let's run things as we want them run and take the things we like;
If any fighting must be done, the league's prepared to strike."

WHILE Brown and Honeywell and Jones were hatching their intrigue,
Greene, Gregg and Wood, in lowered tones, devised an inner league.
They wished to make their neighborhood exclusive and genteel,
And, with that purpose understood, prepared a strong appeal;
They called on Brown and Anderson and Peterson and Gray
To do the things they wanted done, without undue delay.

A MEETING of the league was called, and things began to hum
When Roberts, who was candid, bawled out Greene and bit his thumb;
Jones set his heel upon the toes that appertained to Brown,
And each excited member rose to call the others down;
Such words as "liar," "crook" and "sneak" were freely passed about,
Till Gregg bit Clegg upon the beak, and then the lights went out.

OUTSIDERS who were startled by the racket that ensued
Rushed in with clubs and bricks to try to end the deadly feud;
They dragged out Roberts, Brown and Hood and Anderson and Gray,
While Honeywell and Greene and Wood went limping on their way;
They left their lost teeth where they fell with matted wads of hair;
The league that was to serve so well was busted then and there.

MADAM GALLI Curci.
SOMEWHERE IN Songland.
MY DEAR Madam.
I'VE BEEN thinking about it.
SINCE LAST Sunday night.
AND I'M writing to say.
THAT ON Sunday afternoon.
AT THE Metropolitan in New York.
I HEARD you sing.
AND I was there.
WHEN THAT splendid gentleman.
ROBERT UNDERWOOD Johnson.
MADE THE presentation.
OF THE beautiful medal.
AND AFTER it was over.
AND THE concert through.
I CAME away.
AND WENT to my hotel.
AND HUNG around in the lobby.
AND WENT over to the elevator.
AND STEPPED inside.
AND TURNED around.
AND JUST at that moment.
YOU CAME in.
AND IF you remember.
THE SILLY looking gentleman.
WITH THE bright green tie.
AND THE very soft collar.
WHO LOOKED right at you.
AND BUSTED right out.
NOT A foot from your face.
WITH "HOW do you do?"
AND THEN sneaked back.
IN THE rear of the gentleman.
THE FAT little gentleman.
WITH THE black mustache.
I WANT to explain.
THAT THE silly looking fellow.
WAS YOUR humble servant.
WHO PENS these lines.
AND HE wants you to know.
THAT WHATEVER he did.
JUST CAME in response.
TO A warm impulse.
THAT AROSE inside.
AND BUBBLED right out.
BEFORE HE had time.
TO COLLECT his wits.
AND HE wants to say.
THAT HE'LL never forget.
THAT YOU didn't stare.
OR EXPRESS surprise.
BUT LIKE a good fellow.
YOU SMILED on him.
WITH AS cordial response.
AS HIS greeting to you.
AND HE wants to confess.
THAT THE tall young man.
WITH THE great big wreath.
STOOD SO close to him.
THAT HE stole the rose.
AND CARRIED it off.
TO HIS waiting wife.
AND GAVE her the rose.
AND TOLD her the tale.
OF HIS greeting to you.
AND OF your smile.
AND THE theft of the rose.
AND SHE just said.
"THE OLDER you get.
"THE SILLIER you get.
AND I ask you, Galli.
AREN'T WOMEN the strangest things?

I THANK you.

MYSTERY OF WHAT WE CALL A DAY

By Garrett P. Serviss

"Will you kindly tell me when it is Tuesday here what time and where on our globe will Wednesday come in?"—J. W. S., Providence.

THE days are born and die on a line running from pole to pole which is theoretically exactly opposite, on the globe's surface, to the meridian of Greenwich. In strict fact, for various reasons of local convenience, this "date-line" does not, throughout its entire length (one semi-circumference of the earth), keep precisely opposite to the Greenwich meridian, but broadly speaking it does, and the deviations need not be considered, as they do not affect the result for us on this part of the globe.

The date-line runs through the Pacific Ocean, far from land, which is a most fortunate circumstance. If the whole circuit of the earth were occupied by inhabited lands there might be a good deal of confusion in regard to the days of the week.

People who confine their attention to the place on the globe which they happen to occupy feel no difficulty about the change from Tuesday to Wednesday. They may even be greatly surprised to hear that there is any difficulty about so simple-seeming a matter. For them Wednesday begins at the moment (midnight) when Tuesday ceases to be. Every day is just twenty-four hours long, and they come swinging by like an endless chain consisting of seven links. "Where's the trouble with that?" some ask.

Determined by Rotation

The trouble is just here: The length of a day (really a day and a night counted together) is determined by the time it takes the earth to make one rotation on its axis with respect to the sun. It is this rotation that makes the sun appear to rise and set.

By universal agreement the day is said to begin at the instant of midnight, and the middle of the day comes at noon. Now suppose that, instead of staying in one place on the earth, you should travel westward, which is the direction in which day advances, and imagine that you could travel just as fast as the earth rotates, but of course in the opposite direction.

Then, if you started at Tuesday noon, it would be always Tuesday noon for you as you went westward round the world. You would have no change of day whatever; the sun would be continually overhead. Nevertheless, when you got home again you would find that the people there called it Wednesday noon.

Losing a Day or Gaining One

Without being aware of the fact, then, you must somehow, somewhere, have passed from Tuesday into Wednesday (using these names in a worldwide sense), and that happened unnoticed by you because you had the sun always moveless overhead when you went from east to west over the date-line.

And next, a little thinking will show you that if you went around the earth traveling eastward instead of westward, or going contrary to the sun, at the same speed as before, and also starting at Tuesday noon, you would meet the noon sun again twelve hours after you started; and that would be, for you, Wednesday noon. Twelve hours later still, when you had come round to your starting point, you would a second time encounter the noon sun, and consequently you would call the date Thursday noon, although by the reckoning of the people there, who had not stirred from home, it would be only Wednesday noon.

Similar results would be obtained without traveling so fast. You might take a year, or a whole lifetime, for the journey, but still if you went all the way around westward you would lose a day as compared with those who stayed at home, while you would gain a day if you went the other way around.

IDEAS ON MARRIAGE BY FAMOUS TENOR

Guido Ciccolini, the famous tenor, recently married a beautiful, athletic, fashionable New York debutante. Since her marriage the famous singer has expressed a number of ideas regarding marriage and the conduct of married persons which would seem to promise an interesting time for his newly-acquired bride. "My wife must be a bird in a cage," says he. Read all about Ciccolini's strange ideas in next week's

Witch Doctor Statesmen
We Dress Nicely
Millions for London
U. S. Police in Silesia

By Arthur Brisbane

Copyright, 1919.

Wouldn't it be worth while for Senators, agitated about Bolshevism and the I. W. W. movement, to find out just why and how these movements grow? It is all very well to say: "Be quiet; if not, I will put you in jail, or send you out of the country." But hundreds of thousands have taken part in demonstrations of discontent. Perhaps they are not all Bolshevists.

You cannot well jail or deport hundreds of thousands or millions. Why not find out what the trouble is, and what, if anything, can be done about it?

When a man is sick, old-fashioned, savage witch doctors begin beating tom-toms, and yelling foolish things about him, bidding some evil spirit be gone. The modern physician overlooks the evil spirit, and tries to find out what is really the matter.

Statesmen are trying witch doctor methods on Bolshevism, which often is not Bolshevism at all, but well-founded discontent.

The cost of living in England is up three hundred per cent. Furnishing a house for young married couples is up four hundred per cent. This falls, as usual, heavily upon the poor. But this does not discourage some Americans, or prevent their dressing up nicely.

Through London alone, in the nine months ending last September, Americans bought, to make themselves look prettier, more than twenty-seven million dollars' worth of diamonds and other precious stones, double the amount bought in the same period a year ago. And in those nine months America bought from London more than ten million dollars' worth of furs, again double the amount of the year before.

Many American millions travel to London. Young Mr. Astor, for instance, major in the British army, has received from his father a present of fifty million dollars' worth of real estate in the city of New York. His father is old, and the gift will save heavy inheritance taxes in the United States and England.

Young Mr. Astor is spending his money buying newspapers. He owns control of the Sunday Observer, and now buys the Financial Times and the Drapers' Record for two million.

German peasants, ancestors of the Astors, would be interested if they could know of their descendant's career.

Important news is the announcement by Secretary Baker that the United States army is at the disposition of any Governor to put down rioting.

This means that the serious nature of labor disturbances in other countries, and to some extent in this country, has had the attention of the Federal government. It means that in States where the Governor chooses to use the national army, men may leave their work but will not be allowed to agitate in the usual way, to keep their jobs empty, or prevent others from taking them. Where the workers rather than the corporations dominate with the Governor the situation may be different.

Up to Wednesday nine were dead in the flying competition across the continent. They died bravely, in spectacular, sensational fashions, so their deaths attract attention.

When you dig a tunnel you kill many times nine workmen. They die in agony, suffering from "the bends." When you allow profiteers to increase outrageously the price of milk and other food you kill thousands of children.

The ordinary worker, the half-starved child, die so quickly that nobody notices it.

Nathan Straus said truly when he began his work for children: "If I should announce that tomorrow I would hire a great hall and publicly kill one child with poisonous milk, I should be lynched, and quite properly. But when I say, which is true, that thousands of children are killed every year by poisonous milk, little attention is paid; it is not sensational enough."

Just exactly how does this piece of official army news impress you:

"Two thousand, two hundred men are shipped from Camp Dix to Silesia." Their business there is to "do police duty during the plebiscite, to determine whether the province will go to Poland or remain under German sovereignty."

What business do you think two thousand, two hundred American citizens who happen to be in the army have in Silesia?

Why should men be sent from this country, at the expense of citizens of this country, to do police duty while people over there make up their minds whether they want to be Polish or German?

Everybody wants a peace league that would mean peace. But not a peace league that means picking out Americans by thousands and shipping them abroad to be European policemen.

Can you imagine any European country sending two or three thousands of its citizens here to act as policemen in one of our strikes or in one of our elections?
